SCANT INFORMATION GIVEN HER

the Was Told That He Had Been Adopted by a Wealthy Lady-But Her Letters to the Address Indicated Were Returned Undelivered-Her Permission Never Asked.

Permanently Mrs. Hettle Russell, of No. 50 H street northeast, is greatly distressed because, as she says, her thirteen-year-old boy Charife has been taken And from her and she is unable to ascertain what has become of him. Mrs. Russell last night told a Times reporter Absolutely a pitiful story, which shows that she has had more trouble than generally falls to the lot of one woman, and the recital of which will no doubt awaken sympathy in many a heart. Mrs. Russell was left a widow seven years ago, her husband dying after a long illness. She had five children to care for-the eldest, a girl of twelve, and the youngest, a girl of two. The latter was afflicted with congestion of the brain, which was followed with blindness, and as the mother was compelled to work for her living and was unable to properly care for her baby Mrs. Russell was compelled to part with the little one and send her to the Asylum for the Bilmd at Baltimore.

Billia one and send her to the Asylium for the Billia at Baltimore.

The other children were in comparatively good health, and Mrs. Russell kept them with her for a time, although it was a desperate struggle for her to provide food and cothing for them all, she did not murmur, however, and it was not until about four years ago that, finding that during her absence from home at work Charlie, the youngest boy, and Mary, the second daughter, were not being properly taken care of, she sought and obtained permission for them to enter the Washington Orphan Asylum, corner of Fourteenth and S streets northwest, as immates, Mrs. Russell visited her children as frequently as the rules of the institution permitted, and she was measurably happly in the fact that she could see her loved ones trequently, though she was not able to care for them personally.

She was dumbfounded when, making one of her usual visits nearly two years ago, she was told upon inquiry for Charlle that he was away visiting and would soon return. Mrs. Russel was told the same thing many times afterward, and she would have continued to think that the absence of her child on the occasion of her visits was only a sing ular circumstance had not one of the little tots, who had learned Mrs. Russell's name by seeing her so frequently, said, "Mrs. Russell, I know where your Charlie has gone A hady took him away a long time ago and never brought him back.

took him away a long time ago and never brought him back.

Mrs. Russoll was horrified at the information and begged the matron to tell hop if what the child had asid was true. The matron at irst declined to give any information on the part of the distressed mother, took the mother that Charlie had been adopted by a family who would take good care of him.

For a long period this was the extent of the information that Mrs. Russell could get about her boy, but some time later the matron yielded sufficiently to tell Mrs. Russell could get about her family of alberts Berry, a wealthy lady living opposite lower Cedar Point, Md., and that he was doing well, being loved by his fesier parents and loving them in return but whether they lived in Maryland or Virginia could not be ascertained.

It was a great satisfaction to Mrs. Russell to lear this much, but she yearned for a letter rom her boy, nod she wrote to him telling him has although her poverty had compelled the eparation between them, she still loved him as Long and anxiously the poor mother walted for a reply, but none came from Charlie, and when a letter did arrive from the pest-office at Lower Cedar Point, it was simply the cold, formai official notice accompanying the undelivered letter that no such person as Mra. Alberta, iterry received mail at that office. From that time to the present Mrs. Bussall has been unable to learn a single syllable concerning her child.

But there was more trouble in store for her. For many months acr oldest boy was unable to find employment, until a few works ago, when he obtained work making seals for railroad-cars. On the first siny his right hand was caught in the stamping machine he was running and the end of one of his fingers was so hadly mashed that a portion of the finger had to be ampurated.

Mrs. Russell has been employed for some time past in running a sewing machine in the bindery at the tovernment Frinting Office, but since Public Printer Benedict took charge Mrs. Russell, with other employes of that department, has had so little work that it is about all site can do to earn enough to pay rent and keep body and seal together. A few days ago she was compelled to take a wacation and wait for her pay until the 20th of next month. She expressed a desire to continue at work, hoping if she did not accept a vacation she would be furloughed.

A reportor called last night at the crohan But there was more trouble in store for her, or many months her oldest, boy was unable to Four Railroad Companies to Equip Two Cars Each with Fenders-Miller School Building Without Fire Escape.

The fender "may be of a combined kind or be in two or more parts," but shall consist of a front fender and a wheel guard. The equipment must be made on or before Octobe 25, 1854, and continue until a different regulation shall be made. The Commissioners have been invited to witness the trial of a fender on the Brightwood line this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock.

Upon notification, from Henry Johnson, made a week ago, the building inspector bad an examination made by inspector Vermillion of the Miller school building on Histeret, between Sixth and Seventh streets northwest, as to its limited means of egress in case of fire. Mr. Vermillion reported that he had found the building without adequate means of escape, and expressed the opinion that the upper rooms should be vacated or that a combined fire escape be placed on the alley side of the structure. S. W. Augenstein, least of the building, has been notified by the Commissioners to immediately creek fire escapes, and Assistant Inspector Vermillion is directed to report if there should be any material delay in complying with the order. If the matter does not receive immediate attention the Commissioners will order the building vacated.

C. M. D. Browne, No. 144 R. street northeast, reports to the Commissioners the insufficiency of street lights in West-Eckington, and claims that the District has neglected that section. He made a similar report last winter, but was informed that the lights on R sireet, from, North Capitol street to the railroad Company, and that the District had no control of the service. Mr. Browne insists that if the railroad company can that the District had no control of the service to the street samps is in doubt, and on this account the appl

Health Officer Woodward recommends that if other water supply can be obtained in lieu thereof, the public well connected with the school on Biadensburg road be closed. Analysis of the water in the well shows it to be bacteriologically and chemically "snapletous."

The Commissioners yesterday ordered that upon the expiration of the present license, as further license will be issued to A. J.
